Kalahari coffee ensures that the production of this fine tasting premium coffee is done in order to avoid endangering the plants, the planet and its people.

All our beans are grown and harvested in a sustainable way. Our handpicked beans are roasted using only repurposed bio-mass fuel which does not effect the flavor of the roast. Shipment is carbon neutral and the used coffee grinds are used as biological fertilizer.

JENEVER

Also known as genièvre, genever, peket, or in the English-speaking world as Dutch gin or Hollands (archaic: Holland gin or Geneva gin), is the juniper-flavored national and traditional liquor of the Netherlands and Belgium, from which gin evolved. Traditional jenever is still very popular in the Netherlands, Belgium and nearby French and German regions.

KOPSTOOT (HEAD-BUTT)

Traditionally the drink is served in a tulip-shaped glass filled to the brim. The drink is served cold from a bottle kept in a freezer or on the rocks. The higher-quality old jenever and korenwijn is usually served at room temperature. When jenever is ordered with beer (normally lager) as a chaser, it is referred to as a kopstoot (head-butt).
